

Beautiful New Bank Will Open Thursday Morning

When the doors of the new Farmers & Traders bank building are thrown open to the public on Thursday afternoon, the people of Maysville will look upon one of the prettiest banking rooms in the whole of Kentucky. Compact, and yet complete, with every facility known to modern banking for the care of the public's banking needs, so careful have been the officials in planning for this new home that not a feature offered by the large city banks has been overlooked in their effort to give their patrons and friends the very latest and best.

The front, one of the most imposing in Maysville, is of stone and terra cotta with beautiful and stately columns. On either side of the spacious doors hangs a large electric lamp of the same style as is used in the city's "White Way" lighting system.

Upon entering one enters a floor-ceiling lobby beautifully decorated and with the most attractive of electric lighting effects. The partition separating the banking room from the lobby is of Italian Taverne marble with Egyptian black and gold marble base with solid bronze grill. Windows at which the cashier and assistant cashier will preside from the entrance while farther to the rear of the room are windows for the tellers and general bookkeeper. The individual bookkeepers will be located in the balcony overlooking the main floor. This balcony will be connected with the main floor by steps and by a book elevator going entirely through to the basement in which is located the book vault. All departments are connected by telephone.

To the left of the entrance of the building is a very attractive little private office while in the rear of the lobby is another private office which will also be used as a coupon room for the patrons of the safety deposit department of the bank.

The front mezzanine will be used as a director's room and a lady's rest room. It is beautifully equipped and the women patrons and friends of the bank are given a cordial invitation to use this rest room at any time.

The lighting system of the bank is one of its very attractive features. Besides the individual hidden lights for each window in the bank, the very popular indirect lighting system is used and in the ceiling are two large skylights in which there are concealed many electric lamps and through which they shine as sunlight.

The new bank is equipped with two large Mosler vaults. The main vault, located on the main floor, measures 8 by 12 feet inside and the huge door is secured by twenty-four bolts and is equipped with triple time locks and a double combination making it absolutely burglar proof. The book vault, located in the basement, is of the same dimensions as the main vault. In the main vault there are scores of lock boxes in which customers will keep their valuables.

This bank has shown most phenomenal growth. It is the youngest financial institution in the city of Maysville and yet within its short life, has developed into one of the strongest banking institutions in the state. It is now housed in one of the best equipped buildings possible and is in the more in a better position to continue its rapid growth.

The Farmers & Traders Bank is offered by a clever lot of high class and thoroughly seasoned business men. Its president and active head is that prince of men, Colonel Clarence L. Wood, known far and wide for his genial manner and straight-forward business record. The active vice president is Mr. H. W. Cole, to whom much credit and praise is due for the beautiful new home they are to occupy tomorrow. Mr. Cole has been chairman of the building committee. He has spent much of his time in the past several months upon this building and many of his original ideas have been worked into the general scheme. The other vice presidents are Messrs. W. H. Newell, J. T. Holton and C. M. Devore. The directors are Messrs. C. L. Wood, W. R. Newell, R. B. Holton, J. M. Collins, Walter Worthington, T. L. Holton, S. C. Brittingham, T. B. Robinson, H. W. Cole, William H. Osborn, J. T. Holton, C. M. Devore and A. D. Cole.

Those clever employees with whom the patrons are daily thrown in the transaction of business at the bank and who are as much responsible for the growth of the institution as the directors and the officers, are Cashier E. L. Willett, whose thoroughness and shrewd business judgment has won the bank many true and lasting friends; Assistant Cashier R. M. Galtner, whose accommodation and cleverness has also added to the bank's ever growing friendships; Mr. William P. Lindsay, Mr. Lloyd Anderson, Mrs. J. H. Hutchins and Miss Irene Willett, the painstaking bookkeepers.

The formal opening on Thursday will, no doubt, attract scores of people to inspect the new building. The officials of the bank have arranged to entertain their visitors during the afternoon and evening and the famous Maysville Boys' Bands will furnish music, the Horseshoe Band in the afternoon and the Cardinal Band at night. There will also be souvenirs distributed to those who favor the bank with a visit. Everyone will be made very welcome, not only on Thursday but every other day in the year for the word "Welcome" is always inscribed on the door mat of this institution.

Messrs. Webber Brothers, of Cincinnati, are the architects, and the splendid workmanship throughout is the handiwork of the Limestone Lumber Company executed under the direction of Col. S. D. McDowell.

K. OF C. BUY OLD CENTRAL PRESBY- TERIAN CHURCH

Maysville Council Knights of Columbus Become Owner of Old Central Presbyterian Church Building Through Deal Today.

Contracts were signed Wednesday morning between the trustees of the Central Presbyterian church and the trustees of the local Council Knights of Columbus by which the local order becomes the owner of the Central Presbyterian church property in Third street. It is understood that the purchase price was $8,500. The transfer will be made immediately but the Knights of Columbus will permit the City Mission to occupy the building for the next two or three months or until they can secure a new location.

Trustees of the Knights of Columbus stated Wednesday morning that it is the purpose of the local organization to make extensive improvements and changes in the property, transforming it into a lodge room and club rooms. It is their purpose to make it into a sort of community center with the advantages offered the public of Maysville that are offered by the Knights of Columbus in many larger cities throughout the country.

The trustees of the church retain the seats in the building and these they will dispose of later but all other equipment goes with the property in the transfer.

Work at remodeling the building and putting it in condition for the occupancy of the Knights will begin just as soon as possible. They expect to have an architect take charge of the changes immediately and they hope to be enabled to occupy their new home within a few months.

HAD BEEN GUARDING THE WRONG BOX.

When the ballot box for the Second ward which Master Commissioner A. G. Sulser has been guarding under lock and key for the past several weeks, was brought into court Wednesday afternoon and opened, it was found to contain the city ballots instead of the county ballots. The box containing the county ballots for this ward was found under the steps of the court house in the old city lock-up.

ATTEMPT TO TABLE ANTI-DARWIN BILL FAILS

Lively Time in Senate When Fight Over Anti-Darwin Measure Develops.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 14. — It was evolution day in the Senate. Interest was intense and engulfed persons in the galleries. Voices became hoarse from talking and arms weary from gesturing. The Senators voted down a motion to table the Rash substitute, spoke for an hour or so longer and then adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

So, the measure to prohibit "the teaching of anything that will weaken or undermine the religious faith," is sort of suspended in the air. In the clerk's journal it is listed under the head of "unfinished business" and will be taken up again tomorrow morning.

A high point in the proceedings came when Senator J. Will Stoll of Lexington concluded a speech against the bill and walked to the rear of the chamber.

"Go it, you monkeys," the Rev. John A. Lee, Senator from Owen, Gallatin and other counties, shouted from his seat.

Mr. Stoll, returning, referred to "the remark," and said: "I don't propose to be made a monkey of, nor will I make a monkey of myself."

Mr. Lee jumped to his feet, but Lieut. Gov. S. Thruston Ballory refused to recognize him.

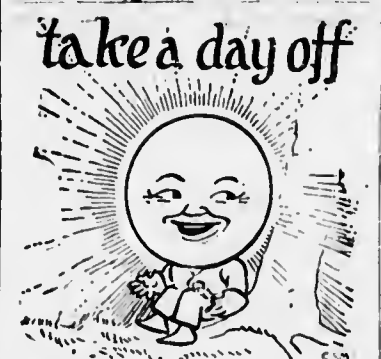

The storm blew over.

The motion to table the bill was lost by a vote of 22 to 11.

BOXES ARE OPENED AND BALLOTS BEING COUNTED IN COURT

Judge Halbert Rules That Boxes in Contested Precincts Should Be Opened in County Clerk Contest Case.

Following arguments by attorneys on both sides in support of and against the motion of the Democratic attorneys in the County Clerk's contest case to open the ballot boxes and recount the ballots in open court, Judge Wm. C. Halbert at noon Wednesday sustained their motion as to 12 of the 13 contested precincts, he refused, however, to open the box in precinct 4A because of certain apparent irregularities.

Work of counting the ballots was begun immediately after noon Wednesday. Sheriffs are busy summoning officers in the various contested precincts to appear in court with the box keys that they may be opened before the court. The first ward box was first opened and counted.

Ruling not to open the box in precinct 4A, Judge Halbert also ruled that the questioned ballots in this ward, over which there was much contention and which seemed to bring about the contest, should not be counted in arriving at the final total.

Judge Halbert has not as yet finally ruled on the motion of the Republican attorneys to throw out the entire Fourth A precinct in the final tabulation, neither has he ruled on any of the various cases of alleged illegal voting cited by both sides in the contest.

ROAD BOND BACKERS WIN FIRST BATTLE

Advocates of Road Bond Issue Roll Up 57 Votes Against 33 to Kill Measure.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 14. — Proponents of the submission of a $50,000,000 bond issue for a system of state highways left the House of Representatives chamber this afternoon in a cheerful mood after succeeding in rolling up a vote of 57 to 33 against tabling the bill and its score of amendments.

The House adjourned after this vote and the fight will be resumed tomorrow.

The vote was especially pleasing to friends of the bond bill, coming after an all-day battle in which opponents of the measure seemed to score at every turn.

From the moment that Representative Frank L. Strauge of Bowling Green, chairman of the Committee on Public Roads and Highways, and chief of the opponent forces, opened the fight with a motion to recommit to his committee, the parliamentary battle was a bitter one.

INJURED QUITE SERIOUSLY IN FALL FROM AUTO

Mr. John Harbeson, Popular Garage Man, Falls From Running Board Of Automobile—Skull May Be Fractured.

Mr. John Harbeson, active head of Harbeson's Garage in West Second street, suffered severe injury in a fall from an automobile in West Second street at about the noon hour Wednesday. Physicians are yet unable to state finally but they fear that he has suffered a fractured skull although the fracture may not be so serious.

Mr. Harbeson was lying on the running board of an automobile which was being driven through the streets to locate "knocks" in the machinery. He was holding to a curtain rod on the machine which slipped and permitted him to fall onto the street, striking his head a terrific blow on the brick paving. He was rendered unconscious.

He was removed to his home in Third street where Wednesday afternoon he was reported as resting easier. His many friends hope that the accident will not prove so serious as was at first thought.

Mt. Matt Scott, aged 61, of Manchester, and Miss Ellenra Cooper, aged 60, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were married here Wednesday by Rev. W. S. Peters, of the Third Street M. E. church.

OUR POLICY:

And likewise we earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

A FEW DOLLARS, OR A STEADY JOB—WHICH?

Everybody would like the soldiers to have a bonus if there were a surplus. The able-bodied ones, however, are most young enough to wait for a few years, while the condition of the country will not wait. Which would a healthy ex-soldier rather have: a few dollars and no job or a regular job at good wages? By taking this heap of money out of the pockets of the people at this particular time he would prevent the reduction of taxation, and therefore present the expansion of business; and without the expansion of business unemployment will increase. Hard times hit the poor as well as the rich. The bonus proposal, in whatever form it is made, comes at a time when there is no money and when the Government has heavy debts to meet, and that is a situation that calls not for lighter but for heavier taxation.

According to Mr. Mellon, the estimate for 1922 is an indicated deficit of $24,000,000 and for 1923 of $167,000,000. The Government, though it will spend about $450,000,000 in each of those years for the relief of disabled veterans, has been and will continue economizing in different directions so as to give a little relief to business and labor. But of what avail is it to economize on apple-parings with one hand and throw away billions like sand with the other?

In speaking of the refunding operations the Secretary says that almost $6,500,000 will fall due within the next sixteen months. It is at such a time that it is proposed to make a gift of $3,300,000,000, at least $850,000,000 of it within the next two years. Any measure introduced this year for the purpose of making this gift should be entitled "An act to keep hard times, bad business and unemployment the regular order for two years, and, if possible, to make them permanent."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

KENTUCKY SALUTES A MAN.

Colonel Denhardt, Kentucky salutes you! With uncovered head and downcast eyes with contrite heart and humble spirit, Kentucky admits her shame. And then with head erect and level eyes she makes grateful acknowledgement to you and the men for whom you speak, and gives her pledge to you and those of whom you are a type that no longer shall the lawless and the criminal retain control of a city within her borders.

To her Governor, Kentucky also makes obeisance, with profound gratitude that he has used you, and the organization of which you are the chief, to reveal and to cure the plague that has existed in Newport.

Your simple statement would bring intolerable shame were it not coupled with the promise that the future shall be clean, so Kentucky gives joyous acclaim to your exposition of the facts as they exist, with your pledge of a soldier's honor that no longer shall they endure.

It is a glad day for Kentucky when the cancer that has gnawed at the very vitals of the state is exposed to the curative power of publicity, with assurance that the diseased tissues shall not longer corrupt the body politic.

KIDS MAKE FISTS FLY.

Good fist fights wherein the villain is knocked cold by the hero are to be seen in many photoplays, but Wesley Barry in his latest screen play, Gus Edwards' "School Days," which comes to the Washington Theater, Friday, furnishes a thriller when he encounters an expensively dressed little boy of wealthy parents who calls him a rube.

The fight happened when Wesley, upon arriving at the palatial residence of a Long Island family, tries to become chummy with his new found friends. On the law he saw across a low hedge a little girl and boy about his own age quietly playing under the care of a maid and a man-servant. In one bound Wesley cleared the hedge intent on making new acquaintances. "Bet I can lick you," he calmly informed the other boy.

In big city amusement the well dressed lad looked Wesley over. "How's crops, Rube?" And then the fight was on. The butler finally pulled the boys apart and deposited Wesley unceremoniously on the other side of the hedge. For the freckle-faced youngster had mauled the wealthy boy into a pulp.

Indignantly Wesley hurried to his new guardians.

"Who's them kids next door?" he asked.

"That's little Dorothy Lee, her servants and her cousin," he was informed.

Her servants! That was new thought for Wesley.

"I can have anything I want, can I?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Then get me twice as many servants—but no cousins!"

HOTEL HANDITS GET $100,000 IN JEWELS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 13. — Jewelry estimated by the hotel management to be valued at $100,000 was obtained by bandits, who early today looted safety deposit boxes at the Washington Hotel, in the western section of the city. H. A. Crofton, night clerk, was forced to open the safe. The jewelry was the property of guests, and the exact value will not be determined until the guests list their losses.

The bandits also obtained $600 in cash and $1,018 in checks from the cash drawer. The escape of a compelling Crofton, a night clerk, operator to lie on the floor.

Two bandits looted the boxes while one guarded the elevator and another acted as "lookout," police were told.

DON'T MISS ME SAYS WESLEY BARRY IN GUS EDWARDS'

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — America no longer must stand in the background when it comes to the manufacture of fine china. That is one thing that most of us have thought must be imported in order to boast about. But we have passed beyond that point forever. There is now an exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum in New York, a gold decorated service plate valued at $10,000 a dozen. That would seem good enough for almost any ordinary citizen. The cost is largely due to the fine handwork, the design being built up in 24 carat gold with an infinitesimal brush. The Museum plate was made just to show what could be done in beauty and quality in an American factory. Its makers don't expect to sell many at that price. But they do say that their $3,000 a dozen service plates are saleable.

Thematic theatrical attraction of the year has just opened. It is Nikita Baloff's Theater de la Chauve-Souris, otherwise the Bat Theater of Moscow, being presented here at the 49th Street Theater. It was so much heralded that we almost expected to be disappointed when it should finally arrive. But no heralding and no advance descriptions could have impaired the joy of it nor the novelty. It completely re-creates definite description. In fact, it is a rare and beautiful entertainment which combines all the arts of the stage. Roughly speaking it is akin to vaudeville — but immeasurably more than that. Each number in itself is a miniature masterpiece. The scenic and lighting effects, the costumes, the dancing, the singing, and the acting, are all the products of true art, and beyond this the creation of the acts themselves is the work of a genius. For anyone who thinks of all Russian art as being grim and sad, there is a radiant awakening at the 49th Street Theater.

whose wife keeps her own name of Ruth Hale, and who will uphold the right and wisdom and desirability of her doing so, and Arthur Somers Roche, who will argue that so long as a woman takes all of a man's possessions, peace and patience, she ought to take his name along with them. A MERCILESS JUDGE One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless Judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Maysville resident has withstood the sternest of all tests. Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and I have reason to recommend them. At times my back has become lame and ached just over my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action and I was dizzy. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills I always get relief from these complaints. I certainly think them a good reliable remedy. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's Drug Store."

The above statement was given November 16, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday said: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pills four years ago. My general health has been good. I gladly renew the statement I gave recommending Doan's at that time." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holliday had. Foster-McIlburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

by, earnest men who sit and drink. Innumerable thin white cups of Canton, Oolong and a lot of other brands I never heard of. They brew their own, made with filtered water, sip it thoughtfully and detect the slightest "off" taste and the slightest improvement in flavor. They are the men who keep up from drinking bad tea and spoiled tea and "painted" tea—tea that has been contaminated in travel or adulterated with sweepings and straw. No tea can be withdrawn from its bonded warehouse until the tea-tasters of the district are through with it.

NEW MOTION PICTURE SHOWS
HOW TO POISON BOLL WEEVIL.
"Best 'em right or let 'em bite," is the slogan title of a new motion picture of the United States Department of Agriculture, dealing with the boll weevil menace to the cotton planter. The new film is a one reel sequel to "Good-bye Boll Weevil," and treats intensively with the subject of poisoning this important cotton pest.

The screen story is built about a lecture on boll-weevil poisoning by a Department of Agriculture expert, and scenes visualize the practices which he recommends to his audience. Selection of calcium arsenate for poisoning, dusting machinery, methods of application, schedule of poisoning, and other matters of importance to the boll weevil victims are emphasized.

When Judge King of Boston refused to find James C. Malton guilty of keeping and exposing liquor for sale, although a still was discovered in his barn, he explained that he was not discharging the prisoner to encourage the making of moonshine. The judge further said: "In Boston are many men, some of whom are wealthy, who are assisted by their wives in the manufacture of moonshine. I venture to say that some of our prominent citizens, who have their own little stills might be hiding in the bushes when the police arrive to seize the illegal apparatus. If I had one I should probably have done the same."

GOOD GRADES PREVAIL AT POOL WAREHOUSES

When the roll is called in the good tobacco growers heaven the names of C. R. and E. R. Robinson of Maysville will certainly be among the first. For the advance received by the growers certainly indicates a care and attention given to the growth that deserves the just reward. For 3600 pounds they received $15.45 per pound. The price has the signal honor of being the highest advance yet paid on this market. From the same neighborhood comes the crop of Mr. Leo Slattery which weighed 2500 pounds and attained the high average of $14.55. When the fact is considered that out of twelve hundred crops delivered this is only the tenth received so far has averaged so high a class is indicated. In other words in a class by themselves.

The entirety of good growers however do not come from Maysville entirely. From the other end of the county comes a large delivery by Mr. Frazee Stapleton that netted him the considerable advance of $11.38 for every pound of the 7834 pounds delivered. Considering the size of the same the price could not possibly have been other than satisfactory. Mr. Stapleton's brother, Robert, will be remembered as the holder of the record for the first week for his average of $14.80. Mr. J. C. Everett, the local grain dealer, delivered one of his crops to the association house here yesterday and expressed himself as entirely pleased with the result. Mr. Thos. Brannon, the veteran tobacco raiser of Lewisburg, who delivered 6890 pounds at an average advance of $11 expressed the same sentiments. While this does not seem high in comparison with some reported it must be remembered that it represents at least 15 per cent where the usual crop is considered.

It is the red corpuscles of the blood that fight disease and save you from sickness. Fortify your blood — build it up with the pleasant tonic, Pepto-Mangan. And should you be just recovering from influenza, Pepto-Mangan will build you up.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. In liquid or tablet form. No difference in medicinal properties.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Ask for it by the name and be sure the full name is on the package — Advertisement.

LITTLE GIRL DIES.

The funeral will be held from the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial in the Maysville cemetery.

Other good crops reported were: B. F. Smith, 1755 pounds averaging $11.29. Leonard Clary 1085 pounds averaging $12.46. Garrett Clift, 4005 pounds averaging $11.17. J. B. Bacon 1350 pounds averaging $15.14.

SCHOOL AUTHORITY PRAISES PICTURE OF SCHOOL DAYS

Little Wesley Barry's Masterpiece to Be Seen Here This Week Is Praised by Authority.

The producers of "School Days" in which Little Wesley Barry stars and which will be seen at the Washington Theater Friday and the Gem Saturday have received this letter from the director of lectures of the New York Public Schools:

Messrs. Warner Brothers, 1600 Broadway, New York City.

Dear Sirs:—In conveying the grateful appreciation of the teachers and supervisors of our school system for the advance showing of "School Days" so generously arranged for them by you, I would make bold to echo some of the opinions of your wonderful picture I have heard on every hand.

I am conscious of the fact that the word immortal, which I have employed in connection with this production is about the strongest one could use. That is just what I was seeking, a superlative term. This chapter taken from life itself contains all the elements that should make its appeal both universal and perennial. To the unfulfilling charm of reminiscence, which always attaches to depiction of childhood, is added a genuinely bucolic atmosphere, redolent flowered fields and running streams. By way of contrast there is presented a split depiction of city life, which is not permitted to suffer grotesquely by comparison with the more idyllic conditions of the country, as is the case in most contrasts between urban and rural existence. In turn, these features are reinforced by a humor that is spontaneous and rervasive and a heart interest, not forced and hectic, but so natural and elemental that none can escape it. Little touches of quite legitimate melodrama are relieved by an evolution of character that is wholesome, normal and convincing.

Altogether, the ethical values of this little mosaic of life in all its stages and phrases constitute its highest and surest claim to permanence and eminence. Why pile up words and phrases in an attempt to commend a piece that will speak for itself to millions and the approval of which is bound to be unique and universal? Let me merely add that, as a grey-haired man who was once a bare-foot boy, as a father of a family, as a teacher who has labored for years over the contrivances of child-nature, as an American citizen who would see our social structure resting on a sound foundation of character and intelligence, I wish that every parent, every teacher and every child in this great land of our might see this remarkable picture. (Signed) ERNEST L. CRANDALL.

IS IT "MY" OLD KENTUCKY HOME OR "THE" TUCKY HOME OR "THE"

Dispute Arises Over Use of Word in State Hymn When Tablet Is Made.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 14. — When Stephen G. Foster sang the glories of "My Old Kentucky Home," in 1858, did he write the first line, "The sunshines bright in MY old Kentucky home," or did he write "The sun shines bright in THE old Kentucky home?" This question is engaging the attention of historical authorities in Pittsburgh, because a handsome bronze tablet which the city is about to present to Bardstown, Ky., where the song was written, designates in the first line that it is "MY old Kentucky home."

The reference department of Carnegie Library insists that, while the title of the song was "MY old Kentucky Home," the author wrote in the first line that the sun shone bright in "THE old Kentucky home." Sheet music and phonograph records from reputable publishers and manufacturers no not agree with the Carnegie Library.

As the tablet has been cast and is on exhibition here, it is probably it will be sent to Bardstown without change, regardless of historical accuracy.

Stephen G. Foster, the composer, was born in Pittsburgh.

LIKE CLOUDS ACROSS A SUMMER SKY.

Foretelling the dreaded storm are the symptoms of women's diseases which point the way to physical and mental breakdown. The nervous irritability, the headache, the dragging pains, are not only hard to endure, but they bring certain knowledge of collapse unless something is done to relieve the sufferer. There is one standard remedy which has shown the way out for nearly fifty years. The women who have "come back" through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound present an argument stronger than words could ever be.
